

PLEASE NOTE: This map was created by hand on Friday, March 6, 2026, using the ALTO Interactive Map as it appeared on that date. There is some growing controversy about the official Alto map and corridor lines appearing to change. Without speaking to that, people are reminded that this map was produced using great attention detail and with the most accurate information available. Folks are reminded that the most current and accurate information regarding the study corridors can be found on the interactive map on the ALTO website.